

Book Announcements | ASA Press

ASA Press is a meritorious imprint of the Acoustical Society of America in collaboration with Springer International Publishing. All new books that are published with the ASA Press imprint will be announced

Aging and Hearing: Causes and Consequences

Editors: Karen Helfer, Edward Bartlett, Arthur Popper, and Richard Fay

- Provides a reference for graduate students, researchers, clinicians and academic faculty on the basic science and translational research of the aging auditory system
- Discusses state-of-the-art developments in aging research, and the latest avenues for treatment of age-related hearing loss
- Explores the effects aging has on the central nervous system, as well as cognitive functions, that implicate the auditory system in Acoustics Today. Individuals who have ideas for books should feel free to contact the ASA Publications Office, ASAPublications@acousticalsociety.org, to discuss their ideas.

Binaural Hearing

Editors: Ruth Litovsky, Matthew J. Goupell, Richard R. Fay, and Arthur Popper

- Features physiological comparisons between avian and mammalian binaural systems
- Explores human perception and modeling with a focus on perceptual outcomes
- Reviews contemporary developments in binaural hearing, including behavioral studies, neurophysiological and anatomical studies, auditory plasticity, modeling, and hearing-assistive devices